RE: CERTIFICATIONS REQUIRED BY TRUTH-IN-TAXATION PROCEDURES

Truth-in-Taxation procedures require the collector for a taxing unit to certify excess debt tax collections each year. It is stated on the Comptroller's website "The collector compares this collected amount with the amount that the collector estimated to collect according to last year's anticipated collection rate. If the taxing unit took in more debt tax dollars than the estimated collection, the collector certifies the amount of excess debt tax collections to the governing body."

The total amount of debt collection between July 1, 2021 and June 30, 2022 was $494,662.26. Last year's anticipated debt collection was $495,883.00. As tax collector for the Aransas County Navigation District, I hereby certify the excess debt collection from the 2021 property taxes is $0.00.

The same laws also require a certified anticipated debt collection rate for the upcoming tax year.

Based on you submitted debt payment to be made from the 2022 property tax collections, I am estimating a collection of $495,989.00 in debt taxes from July 2022 through June 2023. An estimated debt collection rate is derived by dividing the estimated debt collections by the needed debt tax payment for the upcoming tax year. You have submitted a required debt payment of $488,831.25 and after subtracting $0.00 excess collections the remaining amount is $488,831.25.

I hereby certify 101% as the 2022- estimated debt collection rate to be used in the 2022 voter-approval rate calculations so long as it is not lower than each of the three prior years collection rates. Should it be lower than all three prior years: the lowest rate of the three prior years will have to be used in the calculations per Texas Property Tax Code.

Sincerely,

Anna Marshall
